Foreword

We wish to thank everyone who in any way has a part in the life of Fredericktown High School. To the teachers who strive to bring knowledge, to the students who compose the school body, and to all who help to maintain the building, we give our thanks. In this yearbook we have tried to portray a small part of this school life which does, has, and will go on as long as these people are present.

Dedication

Fredericktown High School, we dedicate this "Mirror" of 1964 to thee. Throughout the years, thou hast served us well and our gratitude is deep. Though the old gives way to the new, the memories linger on.

Administration

You, the Graduating Class of 1964, are leaving these portals with my best wishes and fondest hopes for your success. I hope you are departing with the desire to continue to learn with a view to seeking the truth and to attaining excellence. I hope that you have learned that all people make mistakes but that the virtuous and prudent people have learned to correct their mistakes by yielding to reason and righteousness. I hope you realize the importance of being honorable and upright citizens who obey the laws of God and man and who rule with wisdom and justice. And finally, I hope that your individual hopes shall be deserving and forthcoming, and that your lives shall be complete with enjoyment and purpose.

C. A. Giauque
Executive Head

Congratulations seniors on a fine year. May the 1964 Mirror bring back fond memories of the fun, excitement, and hard work that went into making this a good year. The meticulous efforts of the Mirror Staff in constructing this book should be lauded as they have done much to capture the memories of this year. I am sure that this yearbook will be but one chapter of an eventful book of life for you.

Milton J. Arter
Principal

Congratulations to the class of 1964. I hope that your years at Fredericktown have been happy and that they have provided you with experiences which will be helpful to you in your future life. As you accept the responsibilities of adulthood, may you always set the example of good citizenship that those still in school may follow. May I wish happiness and success to you in whatever you may do.

Class Prophecy

Here we are, all 60 members of the class of '64; we're all standing in front of F.H.S., it's our last day of school, and we're just getting ready to leave it all behind. What's this--someone's coming up the walk--why it's an old man with a crystal ball in his hands. He claims he's a fortune-teller, and he's just asked us if we wanted to take a peek into the future. Naturally we accept his offer.

As we all crowd around the crystal ball, a vision appears. We see in the background the famous (Ivy) Wilson-Hilton Hotel. A taxi has just pulled up, with Burson-Gilbert-Burson written on the side, and we see one of our old classmates getting out--Mike Gallagher, a retired millionaire exp. Out of the hotel comes another four classmates, John Fisher, the hotel's doorman. Hi there, John--ah-oh, too late, the vision's beginning to fade away.

Another scene is coming into view--why it's a teacher's meeting at old Frederick High. Seigurne is conducting the meeting. We are surprised to learn that Seig is now the Executive Head of F.H.S. We are also surprised to learn that Sharon Hanon teaches girls' physical education, Carol Brewer teaches home ec., and Dick Hawkins is in charge of the history department. The school's trust officer is Bill Campbell, of all people. Our friend with the crystal ball informs us that two other of our classmates are in the teaching field. Don Waite is teaching at a school for the deaf, and Reni Moen is the head ballet instructor at Kenyon College. Again the crystal ball goes blank.

The next vision to appear is an empty street. It hasn't changed a bit. It's still the same old Main Street. The first store we see is owned by the J. C. Penney Company. Look who's working in the blue jeans department--our friend Shelton Gadd. As we walk down the street we pass Mickey Cachran's Flower Shop, Ron McMahon's Funeral Parlor, and Ronnie Jones' Speed Shop. Ron's faithful servant is none other than Charlie Goore. Next, we pass the twin library; in charge is Margaret Robinson, the head librarian. A little farther down the street we see a big sign which reads Margaret Stout, Carolyn Wise, Auctioneers. How about that? Next we pass Patti Ryan's apphence shop, which specializes in children's wear. Right next door is Tom Smith's Ladies Lingerie Shop. Kay Smith has set up a candy store at 14 Water Street. In gain of all kinds, Anita Miller, Bonnie Verner, and Leona Yamamoto have consolidated, and together they run the Tot Beauty Shop. Verner is the expert on new hair styles, but if you want a blonde job, you'll do in the expert and color man's shop at Bonne. Did they, or didn't they? — or the art and Design Center shop, owned and managed by Sam Sines and Motors, and who is the electrical engineer? — or the Guy Kochherser. Dick has some competition, however, because right across the street is the Chrysler Corporation, headed by none other than Tom Givray. Let's cross the street now, and I'll ask you, "Did you see that truck of mine — mobile just then? Believe it or not, that was Elsie's chum. She's keen, — with the family traction less, that was her dad's Galt truck that just went by. I see that Elsie's driving just as she did in high school. Now the picture's beginning to fade again.

The crystal ball is taking us away from reality — on, the train we're riding, — on expire, lawfully before it. We do not expect that the spirit is in better shape than his truck used to be, back at '64. But it may come to us over the children's home in Mt. Vernon, run by Lynde St. G. — No, we're having a good time at John Stone's Sagamore camp, by the way, you'll never guess who's "Father" of boys down now.
Yep, good old Dandy Rozenbaum's just come over the pond. Good luck, Dandy, we're sure you'll need it.

The next vision to appear is back in Fredericton, Police headquarters to be exact. It seems that quite a few members of the class of '64 have turned to law enforcement occupation. Berries Snyder is Fredericton's chief constable. Paul Robinson has accepted the job of Juvenile Traffic Court judge. The only police woman on the force is Sharron Shatto, but helping her are George Shantz and Denny Williams, and guess what? Our good friend and senior class president, John Benson, has just been elected Mayor of Bellville.

Now our crystal ball takes up to Washington D.C. Some of our classmates have really gotten into top jobs. For instance, Ed Overholt was just appointed Sec. of Agriculture, and Gale Page is Sec. of Labor. Remember how well Gale liked to work? Another '64 graduate, Julia Weller, is the Ankenytown representative to the U.N., no less. Bill Breeze is head of the National Cancer Society, and Bob Morrison is his assistant. Two big shots like these have top-notch secretaries. Bill's secretary is Diana Heller, and Bob's is Barb Doup. Oh--we almost forgot--our former classmate, Paul Kreps, has just been appointed head of the President's Council on Physical Fitness. Congratulations, Bud.

Now, we turn to the world of sports. In the crystal ball we see the shining face of Roger Stewart, Heavy weight Champion of the world. As Roger fades out, another classmate, Joyce Lyon fades in. Joyce is the women's wrestling champ of Ohio. Next we see Jim Bone, who is playing Pro-basketball. Our redhead friend, Tom Tenney appears in the crystal ball as a professional bull fighter, and his assistant is his faithful wife, Karen Bowers. The famous sports commentator on your favorite radio station is none other than our own Roger Bemiller.

Our friend with the crystal ball tells us that three of our classmates have received top honors in the past few years. Mr. Robert Streby is now first trumpet in the New York Philharmonic. Miss Sheryl Davis is poet laureate and Roberta Evering is a top criminal lawyer. The class of '64 also has two presidents--Dennis Toman is President of the Lonely Hearts Club, and Geri Wilson has become President of the Beistle Boosters Union.

"But that's not all," says our mysterious friend. He informs us that Gloria McClellan had become a professional singer, Judy Sorge a pharmacist, Connie Brown, a nurse, Bonnie Morrison and Linda Wells secretaries, and last but not least--Jim Purdy had joined the Foreign Legion.

As this last vision fades away, the mysterious stranger disappears, and we're left standing there on the steps of F.H.S. Was it all a dream, were we just imagining things? Only time will tell.
